Anne Frank House
Entrance: Prinsengracht 265, Amsterdam

Amsterdam, 23rd April 2008

On Friday 25th April at 11:00 am, the new biography 'Anne Frank, haar leven' will be presented. Presentation is in hands of TV-host Catherine Keyl. Femke Halsema, chairwoman of the parliamentary party GroenLinks, will receive the first copy.

A new book has been added to the various books on Anne Frank: 'Anne Frank, haar leven'. Main target group are the approximately 1.5 million low-literate people in the Netherlands, people who experience so much difficulty with reading and writing that they are hindered by it in daily life. In simple Dutch, the book reports on the life of Anne Frank. It has 100 pages, contains short chapters and sentences and many photographs.

'Anne Frank, haar leven' is part of the Leeslicht (Reading Light) series. The Leeslicht series are an initiative of Stichting Lezen & Schrijven, published by Eenvoudig Communiceren (Simply Communicating). The Anne Frank Foundation and Amsterdam World Book Capital are involved closely with the publication on Anne Frank.

The programme is as follows:

- 10:30 am: reception with coffee/tea
- 11:00 am: welcome
- 11:05 am: speech Literacy Ambassador of the ROC of Amsterdam
- 11:15 am: talk Catherine Keyl with Ralf Beekveldt, publisher Eenvoudig Communiceren, and Hans Westra, director Anne Frank Foundation
- 11:25 am: presentation first copy to Femke Halsema by Hans Westra
- 11:30 am: talk Catherine Keyl with Femke Halsema
- 11:40 and: photoshoot and interviews

The press presentation will take place in the reception hall of the Anne Frank House. The entrance is located at the Prinsengracht 265. Opened as of 10.30 am. Would you be so kind to inform us about your attendance?
